12. The Congressional Record noted that Freedom Commission bill, S. 1689, was slated for hearings by the Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee for 17 June. Tracy Barnes supplied a list of witnesses who could testify as to the possible participation in such a program by universities and other private institutions and the name of [redacted] Operational Services, DD/P, who would be available to follow the hearings for the Agency and the OCB. Mr. Houston gave [redacted] name to Jay Sourwine, Chief Counsel for the Subcommittee, and asked if he wished the names of the potential witnesses. Mr. Houston said we had not been in touch with any of them, we did not know what their position would be, and we were merely suggesting them as people who might have information bearing on the subject. Mr. Sourwine was most appreciative and said that while no subpoenas would be issued he would be in touch with these people without attribution to the Agency. Mr. Sourwine asked if we wanted to testify and Mr. Houston replied in the negative. Mr. Houston notified [redacted] of OCB about these transactions.
